Were you in foster care while growing up?

Did your family foster children while you were growing up?

Did you feel close to one of your foster parents' children?

Did you feel close to one of the foster children?

If yes, and if you are 18 or older and were in care in the province of Alberta,
I would like to talk to you and the person you felt close to about this relationship.

My name is Brendon, and I am a Ph.D. student researching relationships between foster parents' foster children and biological children. The purpose of this study is to get a good idea of what these relationships are like.

Participation consists of a 45-60-minute individual interview and a 45-60-minute joint interview with the other person.

Benefits include the chance to talk about how this relationship has benefitted you and to advance our knowledge of important relationships for children in care.

You will each receive a $50 honorarium for your participation.

If you would like to participate in this research or want more information about it, please contact Brendon Pratt at 780-680-5787 or bjpratt@ualberta.ca
